DOW SUSTAINABILITY FELLOWS PROGRAM

Supports doctoral scholars developing and implementing innovative sustainability ideas and becoming leaders in academia, business, government and non-governmental organizations.

Doctoral Degree Fellows

- 1-year fellowship (January-December)
- $15,000 to support doctoral studies
- Engage in cross-disciplinary study with a sustainability focus
- Participate in activities designed to expand research perspectives
- Collaborate with faculty engaged in sustainability research, industry experts, and others

Requires Faculty Advisor Endorsement

U-M (Ann Arbor) doctoral students must have the support of their faculty advisor before submitting a letter of intent to apply. Each faculty member can endorse only one advisee annually.

Sample focus areas include food systems; cities; infrastructure; mobility; consumption; and energy systems.

Cross-Campus Support: The Dow Doctoral Fellows Program also receives support from the following U-M units: College of Engineering, College of Literature, Science, and the Arts; Ross School of Business, School for Environment and Sustainability; School of Public Health; School of Social Work, and the Taubman College of Architecture and Urban Planning. The University of Michigan’s Graham Sustainability Institute administers and supports the Dow Doctoral Fellows program.

More information

- sustainability.umich.edu/dow/doctoral
- UMDowFellows
- UMDowFellows